About Us

The National Baptist Convention, USA, Incorporated (NBCUSA, Inc.) is one of the largest and most historic African American Christian denominations in the United States. Founded in 1895, the Convention was established by visionary Black Baptist leaders who recognized the need for a unified national body to advance Christian mission, theological education, and social uplift during a time of deep racial and institutional exclusion.

From its beginning, NBCUSA, Inc. has been committed to strengthening autonomous local churches through cooperative ministry. While each congregation governs itself, the Convention provides a collective framework that supports churches in evangelism, discipleship, leadership development, missions, and public witness. This balance between autonomy and accountability remains a defining hallmark of Baptist identity within the Convention.

At the heart of the Convention's work is its belief that faith must be informed, formed, and lived out. This commitment is embodied through the Congress of Christian Education (CCE), which serves as the Convention's primary educational and training arm. The CCE works in parallel alignment with the mission of NBCUSA, Inc. by equipping clergy and laity with biblical knowledge, doctrinal grounding, and practical ministry skills. Through annual congress sessions, regional trainings, and structured educational programs, the Congress ensures that believers who are denominationally aligned are also spiritually equipped and intellectually grounded.

In partnership with the Sunday School Publishing Board (SSPB), the Convention provides trusted Christian education resources that support lifelong learning across the church. These resources are designed to be biblically sound, culturally responsive, and accessible for churches of all sizes. Programs such as the Certificate of Progress Program (COPP) reflect the Convention's long-standing investment in leadership development and discipleship formation.

The National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc. is also deeply committed to educational advancement beyond the church, particularly through its support of Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs). Recognizing education as a pathway to empowerment and leadership, the Convention actively assists HBCUs through scholarships, partnerships, advocacy, and fundraising initiatives. This work continues a historic legacy of championing institutions that have educated generations of pastors, educators, civic leaders, and professionals.

Today, NBCUSA, Inc. remains focused on educating believers, strengthening churches, and empowering communities. Rooted in a rich history and responsive to the needs of the present, the Convention continues to serve as a trusted spiritual, educational, and social resource for churches and individuals across the nation. Guided by faith, unity, and purpose, the National Baptist Convention, USA, Incorporated remains committed to advancing the gospel of Jesus Christ through informed discipleship and collective ministry.

The Course

Situated within one of the largest public parks in the U.S., Forest Park's Norman K. Probst Golf Course encompasses 27 holes of magnificent golf that can be played in a variety of combinations - offering golfers of all ages and skill levels and enjoyable and unique challenge every time they play. Distinctive in character but consistent in quality, each of the course's three par-35 nine-hole layouts - the Hawthorne, Dogwood and Redbud layouts, named for St. Louis' most popular trees - features rolling zoysia fairways framed by mature trees, undulating greens and a variety of beautiful natural water features.
